

FIVE FOURS

Posted on 2018-10-28 2019-12-17 by spd_wp_admin

(20181028) Dear Reader ,

Here are the 5 that survived from yesterday's drive out past Elbow Falls with Keith C. It is always a treat to take a drive into this gorgeous country. As per my photographic norms, the image I had in mind was not to be had. Instead there were other rewards. And there dear reader is a quiet truth about landscape photography. All three of vision, technique, and the elements must align for a planned image to be captured. The gods are fickle. We as mere mortals adapt as necessary. Images 1 and 2 are experiments using flash. I like the results. What do you think?

One of the fascinating things about going on a photo ramble with other people is seeing what they come up with. I am quite taken with #2, and hadn't seen it.
