

SWALWELL

Posted on 2019-04-29 2019-04-29 by spd_wp_admin

Dear Reader (2019-04-29)

In Saturday's post I mentioned I had been on a country drive. The town of Swalwell has no services. It does though have a recently renovated community centre, a Railway Avenue, and a number of residents living a prairie life. As I was photographing the memories below, I heard footsteps behind me. A young woman and her pre-school daughter were enjoying an amble along quiet streets. I moved the tripod to the next panel. A short time later, a young man left his house in an expensive red truck. The cows at the feed lot continued to moo. Another panel captured. I turned my head again, when I heard wheels on gravel. The UPS truck had stopped at the intersection of Main Street and Alberta Avenue. I left Swalwell on Wacker Avenue, the third of 3 town avenues. The family name was familiar, as it was a common one at the cemetery just outside of town.

© Sean P Drysdale

© Sean P Drysdale

© Sean P. Drysdale

© Sean P. Drysdale

© Sean P. Drysdale

© Sean P Drysdale

© Sean P. Drysdale

© Sean P. Drysdale

Cheers, Sean

2 Replies to "Swalwell"

1. Keith says:

2019-04-29 at 17:46 Edit

I have been past Swalwell many times, but never actually in it. But I have been in Acme, which is not far away.

1. spd_wp_admin says:

2019-04-29 at 18:35 Edit

Thank you for visiting and comment. Initially I was headed much further North and East but I didn't get far. Acme is the right size to be on my list.