

WELL THIS COULD BE FUN

Dear Reader,

Day 3 of 4

The cart track with the signs that read “Impassible When Wet”, and “This Road is not Maintained in Winter”, gave way to a gravel road. A new set of crows complained loudly that I had stopped, and were obviously fearful that I was about to raid their nests. Instead of hunting for crow eggs, I explored a plot of land covered in photographic gems. It would be interesting to revisit in a different light. The first photo is actually from a slightly earlier spot but it belongs here.

This is the third set of the Gleichen ramble. The first one can be found here, and the second one can be found here.
